

September 5, 2012

Jerry Williams
CPM Construction
10053 N. Hague Road
Indianapolis, Indiana 46256

Dear Mr. Williams,

I am writing to commend your project team on the Chin Evangelical Baptist Church project. In particular, Don Rinker, the site superintendent, went far beyond the call of duty to perform exceptional feats of project delivery despite many challenges on the job.

I have worked with numerous construction superintendents on jobs commensurate in size to the Chin Church project, and Don Rinker has impressed me as one of the most capable, respected and dedicated superintendents with whom I've had the pleasure of working alongside. His problem-solving ability, including offering potential solutions early in the process, is an invaluable asset to managing construction and client expectations. In addition, the respect he earns from sub-contractors cannot be overlooked as a component of the success of the projects with which he is involved. These traits and his vast level of experience set him apart from the typical superintendent.

I hope you will pass along these comments to Don, and reward him for the excellent effort he put forth on completing the Chin Evangelical Baptist Church and no doubt the work on which he will continue to excel. It would be my pleasure to work alongside Don in the future should we be given the opportunity.

Sincerely,

Jason Burk, Project Architect
Halstead Architects
1139 Shelby Street
Indianapolis, IN 46203
(317) 684 1431